Additional Terms

A signed contract is required before any ad can run in The Current. Payment is expected within 30 days of invoicing and accepts checks.

The Current reserves the right to alter, reject, or edit advertisements at any time. The executive committee shall make any determinations; advertisers should direct questions regarding this policy to the Advertising Director.

Any advertisement designed to resemble a News story must carry the word "ADVERTISEMENT" at the top of the ad.

Advertising canceled after contracts are signed will be billed at 100% of space cost.

The Current is not responsible for the print quality of any ad if the stated criteria are not met.

Statements and tear sheets are mailed within the month of contract signing and publication respectively.

The Current does not grant refunds. Any outstanding balances will be credited to your account for use at a later date of publication.

Copy changes on proofs must be sent in no later than 5 p.m. the Friday before publication or discussed with the Advertising Director if more time is needed.

All advertising under contract must be used during the fiscal year in which the contract was signed.

Prepayment is required for all political or closing business advertisements, and travel agencies.

The advertiser and or its agency agrees to defend and indemnify The Current against any and liability, loss, or expenses arising for claims for libel, unfair competition, unfair trade practices, infringement of trademarks, copyrights, trade names, patents or proprietary rights, or violations of rights of privacy or any other tort resulting from the publication of the advertiser's advertisement.

The Current shall not be liable for any failure to print, publish, or circulate in which such a failure to do so is due to nature, strikes, "Acts of God," accidents or other circumstances beyond our control. We will accommodate as needed for these events.

The Current reserves the right to revise any information within this rate card upon giving a 30 days notice.
